

REGIMENT WAITS FOR MOVING ORDER

Seventieth Preparing for Hard Life at Chickamauga Encampment.

ROUNDING INTO GOOD FORM

Great Increase in Enlistments. Show Fine Work at Weekly Drills.

In anticipation of the part they are to take in the great national military event of the year—the encampment at Chickamauga the last two weeks in July—there has been a revival of interest in the Richmond companies of the Seventieth Virginia Regiment, not only on the part of officers and men as individuals, but by the regiment as a whole. In order to increase interest and to work up the proficiency of the officers to the highest standard, Major Hunsdon Cary, of the First Battalion, which consists entirely of the Richmond companies, holds weekly classes of instruction in military tactics for the commissioned and non-commissioned officers. The percentage of attendance is really surprising. Indeed, a man is seldom absent and the enthusiasm indicates that Virginia's regiment will make a showing which will reflect credit upon the soldiers of the Old Dominion.

Not only are the officers attending the special classes with regularity, but the percentage of attendance at the company's drills has increased largely of late. With an eminently good chance of having a regular army officer sent here to instruct the men—as Major Cary has already made application to the Adjutant-General of the United States Army for such a position—there seems to be no reason why the First Battalion should not make a showing, second to no volunteer organization, at the encampment.

If the officer is sent he will arrive here some weeks previous to the start for Chickamauga and with his instructions, assisted by Major Cary, the Richmond companies can be worked up to the highest standard of military efficiency.

Showed Gradual Improvement.

In justice to the members and officers of the Richmond Battalion, it must be stated that the revival of interest in the regiment due to the encampment. For a long time the Seventieth has been picking up the personnel of recruits being greatly above what it has been heretofore. Many old members who resigned some time ago, are coming back, and altogether there is new life in the ranks and among the officers.

Major Cary and the officers in command of the various companies are giving much of their time to the battalion, and never before in its history has it been in more flourishing condition. Not alone is interest being shown in the military department, but those in charge are doing all in their power to make the army at Seventh and Marshall as attractive as possible. Each of the company rooms is at present fitted in the most approved style, and shortly the interior of the drill and assembly halls will be papered and painted.

Taking everything into consideration, there has been a most decided improvement in the conditions governing the battalion, and the officers feel much encouraged at what has already been accomplished and at the prospects for future improvement.

Other companies located in the different towns and cities are making preparations, and one versed in military affairs said yesterday that nearly every company would be fully represented at Chickamauga. The officers, by Captain Daniel Porter, of Staunton, Inspector of small firing arms, who passed through this section on business, informally inspected the equipment of the various companies.

ment of the Alexandria, Fredericksburg and Richmond companies. In speaking of his work, he said that the companies had greatly improved since his previous trip, both in point of equipment and personnel.

Anxious to Change Name.

The present Seventieth Regiment was the old First during the Spanish War, and the distinction with which it served makes it unnecessary to mention any points of historic interest in connection with the command.

Shortly after the war the name was changed by Governor Tyler from the First to the Seventieth. After laboring for some time under the disadvantage of the new name, efforts were made to have it changed back to the First. So far the efforts have been in vain, but the officers still persist in their demand, and they hope finally to accomplish their object.

The encampment at Chickamauga, at which the Seventieth is to play a prominent part, is a national event. Thousands of soldiers will be on the grounds, and each day will consist of some new feature of essential interest to military tacticians.

The order of procedure will be entirely different from the manoeuvres at Manassas several years ago. In the first place, the military warfare will not be carried on until the last day, at which time the troops will be divided into two sides, and will participate in a sham battle, which will be decided by umpires, much after the fashion of the Manassas operations.

To Take Long March.

The only difference between the instructions received by the regular army troops at the encampment, and the State militia, is that the regulars designated by the officers in command of the United States troops, will march at least two hundred and fifty miles to the place of encampment. Those stationed nearer than that distance will march the whole way to camp, and such a part of the return trip, as to make up the allotted distance, while the troops stationed farther away will be carried by rail to such a point that the ordered march of two hundred and fifty miles may be made to the camp.

The volunteer troops will in all cases, with the exception of those in close proximity to the grounds, be conveyed on cars. The Seventieth will have a special train to carry its members to Tennessee, and not until the camp grounds are reached will the real fun begin; that is, if fun it can be called; for though the men from Virginia will take it as their holiday, the stay at the Chickamauga will be strenuous from the start. Beginning with formations of attack and defense by the companies, the battalions, regiments and squadrons will be run in until the entire command is taking part. Following this, there will be outpost, patrol duty, and other exercises until the encampment is ended with general army manoeuvres by all the troops present.

Former Local Democratic Worker on His Way to Denver Convention.

Mr. Joseph J. Sinnott, a former resident of this city, who has been one of the attaches of the House of Representatives at Washington for many years, was in the city yesterday to confer with State Chairman Ellison and other party leaders. Mr. Sinnott held official position in Washington since the late Captain George D. Wise first went to Congress from this district, and he has always displayed an active interest in the party's affairs, rendering valuable service along the line of organizing the Virginians holding office in Washington and getting them home on election day to cast their votes. He will start for the Denver convention on July 1st. He has attended all the National Democratic gatherings in the past twenty years, and has usually been made one of the sergeants at arms.

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES PRAISES PERUNA.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

"I Am Glad To Write My Endorsement Of The Great Remedy Per-na. I Do So Most Heartily."

Julia Marlowe.

ANY remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves.

The nerve centres require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centres become anemic, and indigestion is the result.

Peruna is not a nerve nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion.

Peruna frees the stomach of catarrhal congestions and normal digestion is the result.

In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, 61 Marchant Street, Watonsville, Cal., writes: "I was troubled with my stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine I got bad again.

"I took the medicine for two years, then I got sick again and gave up all hopes of getting cured.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured.

"I have gained in strength and feel like a different person. I believe Peruna is all that is claimed for it."

Nervines, such as coal tar preparations, are doing a great deal of harm. Sleep medicines and headache powders are all alike—heart depressants, and should not be used. The nerves would be all right if the digestion were good. Peruna corrects the digestion.

Pleasant Evening Spent By Players in Scottsville.

The players, while another was occupied with the whist-players of the masculine persuasion in the town. The prettiest home was attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns, red hearts in profusion and masses of sweet peas and daisies. One room was devoted to the players, while another was occupied by the devotees of Terpsichore.

The score-cards, which were the work of the talented hostess, Mrs. Parkinson, were in heart, club, diamond and spade shapes, edged with black and red, dotted with tiny designs of the same shape. ## GAVE HIM BIBLE AND HIS BLESSING

Sheriff Kemp Releases Young Man from Jail and Helps Him on New Start.

Presenting him with a new Bible and laying a hand on his head in kindly benediction, Sheriff L. H. Kemp, of Henrico county, yesterday discharged a young man from jail and bade him go forth and start life over again. It was only for trespass that he had been arrested, but, being without funds, he was unable to pay the fine of $4.25 imposed.

The Rev. Boyd White, of Bellevue, Ky., who had known the prisoner in his youth, wrote to Mr. Kemp and asked him to use his best efforts in placing the boy at liberty again, and to help him in his new start. The Rev. Henry C. Atkins, who was also interested in the case, said that the boy—for he is little more than a boy—took the Bible and the blessing and left the jail with more hope and encouragement than he had experienced in many months.

An old man had been released a few days previous. He tramped the streets all day long in search of something to do, but was unable to find employment. Late in the evening, tired and dusty and hungry, he returned, and asked that he might be taken back. An upper cell was placed at his disposal, and he was told that he might stay as long as he wanted. Food was given him, and he slept in comfort. He is still searching for employment.

According to enactment by the recent Legislature, it was announced at Henrico County Courthouse yesterday that the fee for the issuance of warrants and the trial of magisterial cases would hereafter be $1, instead of fifty cents, beginning July 1st.

Virginia Weddings

Lackey—Thomas.

CHRISTIANSBURG, VA., June 20.—One of the most beautiful and attractive weddings ever celebrated in Christiansburg occurred here Wednesday evening, in the large Colonial porch of the residence of Mr. Robert Trigg Mosby, when Miss Mattie Lackey, Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Mary Mosby Thomas, was joined in holy matrimony with Mr. Robert Shields Lackey, son of the late Dr. Lackey, of Clifton Forge, Va., but formerly of Rockbridge.

Mrs. Russell Bryan, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Tallant, most tastefully decorated the porch with an arch and wedding bell of white lilies, and wrapped ropes of white lilies and asparagus fern, carrying out effectively the color scheme of green and white.

The bride party entered to the strains of the "Wedding March" from Mendelssohn, rendered by Mrs. Ellen Guarrant. The attendants entered in the following order: the gentlemen in full dress, the young ladies in white, with Nile green girdles, and carrying asparagus fern tied with white tulle—Miss Mary Miller, of Christiansburg, with Miss Bessie Hall, of Blacksburg, as ribbon girls; Mr. Lacy Lackey, brother of the groom, with Miss Jo Linkous, of Cambria, Va.; Mr. Harry M. Wade, with Miss Sallie Guarrant, both of Christiansburg; Lieut. Leonard Joseph Leonard Hileman, United States Navy, with The Hon. D. H. Dillard, of Radford, Va. The matron of honor, Mrs. David S. Phlegar, of Norfolk, Va., dressed in pink mull over tulle, and carrying lilies of the valley and asparagus fern, tied with white ribbon, was preceded by Miss Mattie Lackey, Crosby, of Philadelphia, who held on a silver tray the wedding ring. The bride-elect was led forward by her uncle, Mr. Robert Trigg Mosby, and found awaiting her arrival 'neath the arch and wedding bell the groom, with his best man, Mr. Adger Caserlis Standell, of Roanoke, Va.

The Rev. Edward Lane, of the Christiansburg Presbyterian Church, impressively performed the ceremony, during which Miss Florence Baird, of Martha Washington, sweetly sang "As Long as the World Rolls On."

The bride was dressed in a handsome empire gown of liberty satin and embroidered chiffon, with furniture, hall and button trimmings, and a veil of tulle caught at her pompadour and elbows with lilies of the valley. She carried a large shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

After receiving the congratulations of the many friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lackey left, amid a shower of rice and best wishes, for Norfolk, where, as guests of Lieutenant Hileman, United States Navy, they board the Fish Hawk and start for an extended cruise along the Atlantic coast, stopping at the principal cities.

BUCHANAN, VA., June 20.—Rev. and Mrs. George Fredrick Cook announce the approaching marriage of their sister, Elizabeth B. Howard, to Mr. Charles E. Wilson, of Russellville, Ariz., to take place at 6 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday, the 25th of June, at the Baptist Church, Buchanan, Va.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Mr. Henry E. Lee, of Crewe, and Miss Helen Fitzgerald, of Blackstone. This interesting event will take place in the Methodist Church, Blackstone, on the 30th instant. Mr. Lee is the popular Commonwealth's attorney for this county, and the bride-elect is the accomplished daughter of the late John Fitzgerald, and her family is one of the oldest in the State.
